

Care Offer and Cooperation with the Parents

Within the scope of the legal claim to child care, you are able arrange the respective period of care with the head of the facility.

To coincide with the interests of work and family, it is possible to leave your child in the nursery during the regular open hours for periods of 5, 8, 10 or 12 hours each day.

Hourly and Daily Care

For compassionate reasons you require care for your child for only a short or limited period? This is no problem at all. All facilities offer the possibility of care for a limited period.

Preparation or the Settling-in Period

It is not uncommon that children find it difficult to get used to a nursery. To make sure that this process runs as smoothly as possible, a settling-in period should be agreed upon with the facilities personnel.

Separation in the morning can lead to tears later on in the day, which mainly cease quickly when a child meets its playmates. For this reason it is important that the person taking care of the child has close contact to the parents.

Cooperation with the Parents

Cooperation between the nursery school and child's family background is necessary to ensure that the child is well looked after. Both the nursery school personnel and parents should maintain close contact.

There are many types of close cooperation – examples are: Talks in passing, project days with parents and grandparents and parents' evenings.

Each facility will select a parents' representative to represent the group. Furthermore, a parents' town advisory committee will be selected from all representatives.
